

Making a Difference

Black History Month

Short Essay Contest

Black Canadians pose with Premier Ernest Charles Drury at Queens Park in 1920.

February is Black History Month and to Celebrate, Assumption College is having an essay writing contest.

The challenge:

Research and write about a person, event or book that has made an impact on the history of Black Canadians

The paper must:

- Be 250 to 500 words
- Convince the reader that the person, book, event you chose made an impact
- Be well-written with few grammatical errors
- Be submitted to the library by February 28

Prizes awarded. Winning entries will be published.